Faubus Stands by Action of Legislature

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A panel of reporters probed feelings of Gov. Orval E. Faubus Wednesday night on several issues left hanging after the 1963 session of the General Assembly.

Faubus, appearing on the program Face the State KTHV, came prepared to answer questions on controversial topics. And they were asked.

The governor said he still favors a $1 increase in the driver's license fee as the best way to bail the State Police Department out of economic difficulty.

He also answered questions on gambling, the racial issue, school consolidation, qualifications for a highway director and on the recent attempt to oust Winthrop Rockefeller, a Republican, as chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

Faubus said:

He does not feel it essential that the highway director be a licensed engineer;

He does not believe an initiated act is the best way to approach school consolidation, but a school reorganization study might help;

He has not used State police to clean up gambling at Hot Springs because he feels that such action would not be a long-range solution to the problem;

He feels the 1963 General Assembly bypassed the racial issue because it would be futile to pass race legislation and because "the people have grown tired of this issue"; and that

He thinks the presence of Rockefeller as chairman on the AIDC is beneficial to the state.

Faubus said seven states surrounding Arkansas have higher fees for drivers licenses and that four will still have a higher fee if the cost in Arkansas is increased from $2 to $3.

"The State police have always been supported by the driver's license fee and I think this practice should be continued."

He said he did not intend to tell the state Highway Commission who to name a successor to Highway Director F. R. Oliver, who resigned this week to take a job in Thailand.

The original Mack-Blackwell Amendment, designed to take the Highway Department out of politics, did not call for the highway director to be an engineer, he said. Until now there has been no public outcry against a failure to include this provision, he said.

Double Shot at Canaveral Postponed

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—

Payroll trouble forced postponement today of an attempt to launch the Explorer 17 satellite.

Out half of a scheduled space doubleheader.

As the satellite shot was postponed, the countdown was proceeding on the Saturn superbooster which was set to blast off between 1:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the Explorer 17 launching was off until at least early next week.

An official said that a preflight check showed a flaw in a mass spectrometer, one of eight atmospheric measuring devices packed in the 410-pound satellite. He said the instrument would have to be replaced by another being flown here from NASA's Goddard Space Laboratory in Maryland.

The mass spectrometer was to measure electrically neutral particles as the satellite made exploratory sweeps through the earth's atmosphere at altitudes between 155 and 580 miles. Explorer 17's assignment is to make a thorough study of the structure of the atmosphere. The satellite was to have been shot aloft between 9 p.m. and midnight by a Delta rocket.

One of Saturn's engines was to be cut off deliberately during flight to determine the 165-foot tall, 470-ton vehicle's ability to operate with a dead engine.

As on three previous Saturn flights, only the first stage was to be tested. Two upper stages and a nose cone were dummies.

The booster stage powerplant, most powerful known rocket in the world, was geared to develop 1.3 million pounds of thrust and burn about two minutes. The spent Saturn then was to coast upward to an altitude of 77 miles before plunging into the Atlantic Ocean 229 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral seven minutes after launching.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said major objectives of the test were to verify further the over-all first stage performance, including propellant utilization, control system, structural integrity and numerous launch and flight techniques.

The flight was the last scheduled for the Saturn first stage only. The initial test firing with the second stage is set for later this year on Saturn's fifth launching, which also will be the first in which the booster will build up full thrust of 1.5 million pounds.

Starting with flight No. 6 late this year, Saturn will carry early unmanned models of the Apollo moonship into orbit. The 11th Saturn, in late 1964 or early 1965, is earmarked to boost a three-man Apollo team into earth orbit for a two-week stay.

Russia Denies Planes Flew Over Alaska

By LEUIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has flatly denied a U.S. charge that Soviet planes flew 30 miles into Alaska March 15. Moscow says their aircraft were more than 200 miles away.

Washington authorities said the Soviet denial, received late Wednesday, probably will end the formal diplomatic exchange on the incident. But they predicted the United States will continue to remind the Soviet Union at appropriate times that air space intrusions will not be tolerated.

The U.S. government was sticking firmly to its version, contained in a March 16 protest note to Moscow, that two Soviet reconnaissance planes flew over the southwestern corner of Alaska for nearly a half hour.

The Kremlin responded with an equally emphatic denial in a brief note.

U.S. officials said the Soviet Union contended their planes flew no closer to the U.S. border than 350 kilometers about 218 miles.

The State Department declined to make the note public. Officials said it was up to the Soviets to do that.

Moscow appeared to have no desire to make a big issue over the incident. "U.S. informants said the note was very short and devoid of propaganda embellishments the Communists often include in their diplomatic and public declarations."

The spokesman said the raiders returned safely to their base "somewhere in the Caribbean."

The raid was the second exile attack on a Soviet freighter in Cuba this month. The first was March 17. A Justice Department official said in Washington there is no evidence the March 17 raid was launched from American soil.

Castro also charged that "Can-kee agents" sabotaged a Bolivian airliner which crashed last week in southern Peru. He said the agents were after documents carried by two Cuban couriers on the plane.

Says a Drug Could Be Damaging

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said today he has been told the Food and Drug Administration is taking steps to ban sales of a vitamin supplement, Menadione, to pregnant women.

The Minnesota Democrat said the FDA may try to pass off the action against the supplement, Vitamin K3, as routine.

But, he added in a statement: "The fact is it has taken a behind-the-scenes battle of more than a year and a public airing of the situation to get the DDA to act decisively."

Humphrey himself a pharmacist, is chairman of a Senate Government Operations subcommittee which heard Dr. John O. Nestor, a pediatrician on the FDA staff, testify last week that the use of the vitamin in prenatal supplements may result in some instances in "brain damage, spasticity and death" to the newborn.

Humphrey also announced he has received further confirmation that another drug, Mylicon, which he said Nestor had forced from the market as a "pediatric drug," is still "unfortunately being sold for infant use" in the treatment of colic.

Humphrey said the FDA will rescind last December's temporary extension of the manufacturer's food additive petition for the marketing of vitamin K3. The effect will be to block sales of products containing Menadione, a subcommittee aid said.

Castro Threatens to Use Bombers to Convoy Ships Unless Exile Raids Halted

By GEORGE ARFELD

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro threatened today to arm Cuba with long-range bombers and convoy Cuban shipping unless the United States clamps down on hit-and-run raids against Cuba by exile groups.

In a communique Castro held the United States responsible for an attack on a Soviet freighter by Cuban exiles Tuesday night.

"If these attacks continue Cuba will see herself in a situation of considering acquisition of long-range bombers as well as naval equipment necessary to escort our merchant ships, protect our supply lines and repel aggressors," the communique said.

Castro's talk of long-range bombers was an obvious reference to the Soviet 750-mile-range jet bombers the Soviets sent to Cuba last fall along with medium-range missiles.

After the United States put a naval blockade on Cuba, Soviet Premier Khrushchev agreed to withdraw the missiles and the bombers. The U.S. government said it counted 42 of each on ships leaving Cuba. The Soviet government informed Washington in December this was all the so-called "offensive" weapons it had sent to Cuba.

The lives of Soviet crewmen were put in grave danger and the merchantman was left seriously damaged in Tuesday's raid, Castro said.

In Miami, a spokesman for the anti-Castro Commando L group said the raiders slipped into the port of Isabela de Sagua on Tuesday night, attacked the Soviet freighter and left it "badly in need of repairs to keep it from sinking."

The spokesman said the raiders returned safely to their base "somewhere in the Caribbean."

The raid was the second exile attack on a Soviet freighter in Cuba this month. The first was March 17. A Justice Department official said in Washington there is no evidence the March 17 raid was launched from American soil.

Castro also charged that "Can-kee agents" sabotaged a Bolivian airliner which crashed last week in southern Peru. He said the agents were after documents carried by two Cuban couriers on the plane.

Life Ended at 19 While Sniffing Glue

FREEPORT, Kan. (AP)—Stanley Duncan's life ended at 19 while he was sniffing glue.

Everybody said he wasn't the type.

"It can't happen to you, you always tell yourself," says his mother, "but it can and it does and I pray Stanley's death will help some youngsters and parents to realize that it can."

Stanley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Duncan, had gone to Harper, 10 miles away, the day he died—March 15. When they returned Howard Duncan found his brother's body.

A plastic freezer bag was over Stanley's head. Glue was found in the bag. Suicide has been ruled out.

Dr. A. R. Edmundson of Harper said Stanley apparently breathed too much of the glue and suffocated. "He died a violent death," Dr. Edmundson said.

Thousands of youngsters have found they get kicks from breathing fumes from glue used for model airplanes. You can buy a tube for a dime.

The fumes damage the liver, lungs and frontal lobe of the brain and bone marrow where blood cells are formed.

In high school, Stanley lettered in football, basketball and track. He attended a year of college, then dropped out to start farming with his father.

"He wasn't a problem child. We never had any trouble with him all the time he was growing up. Usually you can tell if your kids are up to something, but this was a complete shock," said his father.

"His intentions were to come in to farming with me. We got more land, bought a new tractor and were all set."

GP Signs Offer to Buy Lumber Plant

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A spokesman for the Georgia Pacific Corp. said here Wednesday night his firm has signed an offer to buy shares of the Fordyce Lumber Co., held by the Crosssett family interests.

The south Arkansas firm, one of the largest in the state, is controlled by the Gates, Walzek and Crosssett families and is reported to be worth about $20 million.

The Crosssett family, which owned the plant, held controlling interest in the Crosssett Co., which was sold last July to Georgia Pacific for some $150 million.

E. C. Gates, president of the Fordyce company, declined to comment on the offer. The G-P spokesman said the offer would probably be made to other shareholders.

It was reported at the time of the sale of the Crosssett Company to the West Coast firm that the three families had given G-P a 90-day option to buy the Fordyce company. Later Robert B. Pampin, president of Georgia Pacific, denied his firm was considering purchase of the company.

The Fordyce company owns 150,000 acres of land in three south Arkansas counties, Calhoun, Davis and Cleveland. It employs 425 persons in the manufacture of soft pine lumber and oak flooring. Annual sales are estimated at $5 million. The firm was established at Fordyce in 1889 by the controlling families.

Engravers Keep Newspaper Strike Goin g

NEW YORK (AP)—A small group of union photoengravers—holding out for a 75-minute cut in their work week—kept eight New York City daily newspapers off the streets today and threatened to prolong the 111-day newspaper shutdown indefinitely.

The rank and file of AFL-CIO Photoengravers Local 1 voted 191-111 Wednesday night to reject a proposed contract that would have ended their strike—the last of four against the papers.

The engravers overrode their own leadership and turned down a settlement formula that had been recommended by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and accepted by other newspaper unions involved, including the printers, whose Dec. 8 strike led to the blackout.

There are 320 newspaper photoengravers among 20,000 newspaper employees in the city.

As the unexpected action came, the eight papers were ready to resume publication with today's editions. Two of the papers—the Times and the Herald Tribune—had announced an increase in newsstand prices from 5 to 10 cents, so sure were they of publishing today.

"I don't know just exactly what we're going to do now," said Turner Caldwell, managing editor of the struck New York Times.

"We will have to sit down with the publishers," said Frank McGown, union local president, who had recommended acceptance of the settlement. "The major objection from the floor was the lack of a 35-hour work week."

But Donald N. McVey, executive secretary of the Publishers Association of New York City, said publishers are "unwilling to resume negotiations" and see no point in meeting with the union.

The publishers and union negotiators had agreed to a reduction of the work week from 36½ hours to 35 hours for men working on one of the three shifts—the overnight shift. The hours cut would not have gone into effect until the second year of the proposed two-year contract. The union negotiators made concessions to get this cut.

A desire for an immediate 35-hour week for all photoengravers apparently was the chief factor in the vote to reject.

The photoengravers' basic weekly wages before the strike averaged $149.75 for day work and $160.75 for night work.

The engravers have a pledge that the picket lines thrown up by the printers' union will stand as long as those of the engravers. The engravers went on strike March 18.

However, James J. McMahon, president of the stereotypers union local, raised the possibility of a revolt by other unions.

Taking the stage at the photoengravers' meeting, McMahon asked leaders of that union if they were prepared to take the rejection to the newspaper union committee, made up of leaders of all 10 newspaper unions.

He was greeted by shouts of: "Throw him out. We didn't invade your membership meeting. Stay out of ours."

Korea Crash Kills 11, 2 Americans

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Two Americans and nine other persons died today in the crash of a South Korean air transport in a heavy snowstorm 10 miles northwest of Seoul, the Korean air force announced.

An air force spokesman said the plane carried four crewmen and seven passengers including a U.S. airman and an American civilian.

The name of the airman was withheld pending notification of relatives.

The civilian's status has not been determined, a U.S. spokesman said.

The twin-engine C46 was on a routine flight from Taegu, 150 miles southeast of Seoul, to Kimpo, 15 miles northeast of the capital.

The air force said the pilot tried to land at the Kimpo Airport but was unable to come down because of the storm. He crashed while preparing for another landing attempt.

An air force source said the plane crashed into the side of one of the hills near the big airport, which is a military air base for South Korean and U.S. planes and an international airport for commercial airlines.

Accused Men to Be Tried Separately

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Separate trials have been granted for three persons charged with first degree murder here in the death of Paul Rush, 53, Fort Smith businessman, last May 13.

The three were arraigned before Sebastian Circuit Judge Paul Wolfe Wednesday and pleaded innocent to the charges.

They were Frederick Rush, foster son of the victim, whose trial was set April 23; Raymond Wood, whose trial will be held April 30 and Carolyn Brown, whose trial date is May 7.

The three also asked to be given lie detector tests. Whether the request was granted was not made known.

The elder Rush was shot to death in the basement of the whole sales firm he owned, Frederick Rush, who was wounded in the shoulder during the shooting, told officers he and the victim had gone to the firm at midnight to investigate a light seen in the basement.

Firing at Chaffee Was Successful

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP)—An advance-type M-50 Honest John Rocket was fired successfully here last Wednesday night under black-out conditions by an artillery unit on a night training exercise.

The missile was launched at 11:30 p.m. and traveled southeastward to the fort's artillery impact area some 12 miles away.

Chaffee officials said the missile, with a practice warhead, covered "in excess of 20,000 meters in 39 seconds."

The XM-50 was the third Honest John rocket to be fired at the post and the second to be launched at night. It was described as having a more powerful propellant than older models, giving it a greater range.

A small group of civilians were allowed into the launch area to watch the firing of the missile. Military police blocked off part of Highway 96, during the firing as a safety measure.

Five observation posts reported sighting the explosion of the warhead on target at 240 meters above the ground. They described the firing exercise as "excellent."

The Honest John was fired by Battery A, commanded by Capt. John W. Carson. The battery is part of the 2nd Missile Bn., 30th Artillery.

Specials at Market This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When this little piggy went to market, so did some 4½ million others, and that means bargains at supermarkets.

Heavy marketing of a 5 per cent greater pig crop has begun across the country. Prices have dipped sharply in some places.

One national chain offers pork loin in the New York area at a range from 25 cents a pound for the rib ends to 47 cents a pound for the loin half.

Over the country, attractions almost run the full gamut: Loins, chops, steaks, bacon, ribs, sausage, hams and smoked butts.

Beef, meanwhile, continues to compete for the attention of bargain hunters. Most cuts are at or below previous price levels. Roasts steaks and hamburger all reflect heavy winter marketings.

Turkey, chicken fryers and baking hens carry the same low tags of recent months.

Eggs are a special Lenten and Passover protein source and prices are attractive.

Lenten fish attractions very regionally.

Asparagus, beets, peppers and eggplant are growing more plentiful, and therefore, cheaper. Other attractions include carrots, celery, tomatoes and salad greens.

Fruit selections include grapefruit, apples, bananas, winter pears and avocados.

The Labor Department announced today that its consumers price index rose one-tenth of 1 per cent to 106.1 per cent of the 1957-59 average. This is 1.2 per cent above a year ago.

The figures mean over-all living costs have returned to their highest point in history, first reached last September. They mean that the average household must pay $10.61 for what $10 would buy in the 1957-59 era.

Arkansas River Meet Arranged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A meeting will be arranged in the office of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., probably in April, to work out problems encountered in relocation of a sewer line as a result of the Arkansas River navigation project, a delegation from Pine Bluff was told Wednesday.

The group conferred with McClellan and Rep. Oren Harris on the proposal. The delegation was headed by City Councilman Emmett Sanders and attorney Lewis Ramsey.

The meeting would be between Army Engineers and representatives of Pine Bluff.

A gravity-flow sewerline goes into the river and when Lock and Dam No. 4 is built, it is expected the water level will be raised several feet over the line, a congressional staff member said.

Army Engineers have offered to buy a pump, the staff members said, but cannot, under the law, pay annual operating costs of an estimated $18,000.

The delegation is urging relocation of the line so it will enter the river below the dam, rather than use of a pump. Estimates have been made that the relocation would cost $1 million.

The delegation also asked Harris and McClellan to sponsor an amendment to the Rivers and Harbors Act to allow development of plant sites on the Arkansas.

An aide explained that under the amendment, dirt moved from the navigation channel could be placed as fill on riverside industrial areas to raise them above flood level.

Similar work is done on the Mississippi River.

Spring Trip Big Deal for Class

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The spring trip to New York and Washington always is a big thing for the graduating class at Villa Madonna Academy.

This year the trip is a 15-hour errand of mercy to the eastern Kentucky mountains.

All the clothing, tools, books and toys that can be crowded onto a bus along with 48 high school girls heads today for Hazard in the hope of bringing cheer and practical relief to flood sufferers in the Perry County coal mining town.

A week ago the academy's seniors met, presumably to plan their tour of the East. Instead they decided on the one-day trip.

"One of the girls ventured that perhaps there was something we could do for victims of the floods that hit so many places in Kentucky," explained a faculty member.

"Then we received word from Mount Mary Hospital at Hazard that the situation was utterly terrible and that indeed, help was needed."

The hospital and the academy are operated by the Benedictine Order.

In building the stock of relief supplies, the spokesman said, "fathers of the girls have been bringing boxes and cartons in the family automobiles and the girls themselves have carried it in by the armload."

The girls planned to be back in Covington late tonight.

"It will be a long day but a happy one," said Sister Joseph Marie. Hazard was one of many eastern Kentucky towns hit by floods earlier this month.

The girls' itinerary called for a five-hour bus trip each way, plus a five-hour visit to points in Hazard, including the hospital, and a chicken dinner at a Hazard hotel.

Will Change Political Structure

By JOHN HALL

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—"We plan to change the political structure of this county and this town," a minister told fellow Negroes.

The Rev. James Bevel of Cleveland—a town 35 miles from here—urged them to attempt again to register to vote.

"While people are afraid of Negroes, especially here in the South," Bevel, a representative of the Southern Christian Leadership conference, told a rally of about 250 persons at a small Negro church Wednesday night.

About 100 others stood outside, listening to Bevel and other speakers on hastily rigged loudspeakers.

A crowd of praying, hymn-singing Negroes marched on the Leflore County courthouse a few hours earlier. Police dispersed them and arrested 11 persons.

It was the latest in a series of explosive incidents in this cotton-growing area where Negroes outnumber whites 2-1.

In Washington, a Justice Department spokesman said the federal government is "preparing to take whatever action is appropriate as soon as possible."

The Greenwood City Council has charged "racial agitators" with promoting trouble in this city of 25,000 which has led to three shooting incidents.

Bevel told Wednesday night's rally: "I believe in prayer. But it's never put a governor in office. We need the vote. Get your freedom. Become a registered voter."

Between talks by other integration leaders, the Negroes clapped their hands, stamped their feet and sang hymns.

Police used a trained dog to disperse Wednesday's marchers.

A Negro spokesman said one man was nipped and another had his trousers torn by the dog's teeth. Police wouldn't comment. The demonstrators—about 150—first went to City Hall and then to the courthouse about five blocks away.

The march came about 10 hours after two shotgun blasts were fired into the home of Dewey Greene Sr. No one was hit.

Greene has one son seeking admission into the University of Mississippi and another working in the voter registration drive.

The Justice Department says only a few hundred Negro voters are registered in Leflore County, although 30,000 of Leflore's 46,000 residents are Negroes.

County officials maintain Negroes can register if they want to. Leflore opened its vote registration books to federal inspection voluntarily several years ago, one of the few counties in Mississippi to do so freely.

Faubus Stands

Faubus said he agreed about three weeks ago to let the commission take Mack Sturgis, his purchasing agent, for the job if they wanted him, but he declined to say whether he would vote to make Sturgis the new director if he were a member of the commission.

On gambling, Faubus said Hot Springs residents appear to be "devoid of incentive to clean up their own house," so he felt it would be futile for State Police to do so.

"It is not the role of the state to be the conscience of a community," he said, though State Police stand ready to serve warrants if any are directed to them.

Faubus said he felt the attempt to oust Rockefeller came from Democratic legislators who had Republican opposition. Rockefeller, national GOP committeeman from Arkansas, led a fight to initiate a two-party system in the state last year.

"When you start messing around with a man's political life," he said, he gets mad."

Faubus disclaimed any connection with the move, which came in the recent legislative session.

"I'm sure you gentlemen realize that a governor can remove anyone from a commission if he chooses to do so," he reminded.

Prior to his appearance Faubus watched a national telecast featuring Rockefeller.

Rockefeller's comments dealt mainly with why he moved to Arkansas. "I think he handled himself well," Faubus said. "He certainly didn't lose any votes."

U.S. Trying to Discourage Exile Raids

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI, the U.S. Coast Guard and other agencies are doing all possible to discourage hit-and-run raids by Cuban refugees on Castro's Cuba, officials said today.

They said this is in line with the policy of President Kennedy. While he has repeatedly expressed a desire to see Cuba freed of communism, Kennedy said last week he did not believe the hit-and-run tactics are effective toward this end. They may even strengthen Prime Minister Fidel Castro, he said.

Some concern is expressed in high administration circles that the free lance raids, if continued might prove the spark that would set off a new, explosive crisis in U.S.-Soviet relations.

The question of what measures the United States is taking to stop the foray came up in the wake of a Soviet Union protest Wednesday and the report of another raid Tuesday night.

Moscow charged the United States was responsible for "piratical attacks." Specifically it mentioned an attack on the Soviet freighter Igov, shot up by exiles March 17 at the sugar port of Isabela de Sagua on Cuba's north coast.

The Coast Guard said it regularly patrols the Florida coast with planes and surface vessels.

"If we saw an armed boat heading from Florida to Cuba we would certainly stop it," an official said.

However, the Coast Guard's jurisdiction extends only over U.S. territorial waters. Also, the job of patrolling the U.S. coast is a big one, and there is not guarantee that a boat might not slip out.

The State Department quickly denied U.S. responsibility for the assault, which refugee leaders have said was mounted from "somewhere in the Caribbean."

Lincoln White, department press officer, said: "the U.S. government is doing everything it possibly can to prove such incidents from happening from D. S. territory."

Even as the United States was rejecting the Soviet protest, word came of a new raid on the port of Isabela de Sagua.

A spokesman for the group, Commando L. said in Miami the raiders slipped into the port Tuesday night, attacked a Soviet freighter and left it "badly in need of repairs to keep it from sinking."

The raiders, the spokesman said returned safely to their base "somewhere in the Caribbean."

A Justice Department official said the FBI is investigating to determine whether the attacks have violated any U.S. laws such as the Neutrality Act or the foreign agents registration act. There is no indication the March 17 attack was mounted from U.S. soil, he said.

The Coast Guard said it regularly patrols the Florida coast with planes and surface vessels.

"If we saw an armed boat heading from Florida to Cuba we would certainly stop it," an official said.

However, the Coast Guard's jurisdiction extends only over U.S. territorial waters. Also, the job of patrolling the U.S. coast is a big one, and there is not guarantee that a boat might not slip out.

Temperatures in State Are Cool

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cool temperatures and fair skies made up Arkansas' weather picture Tuesday night and mild weather should continue through Friday.

A high pressure area centered over southern Arkansas, western Mississippi and northern Louisiana kept temperatures in the low 30s and 40s over the state last night.

Overnight lows reported last night ranged from 30 at Fayetteville and 35 at Fort Smith to 41 at Walnut Ridge and 42 at Texarkana. Little Rock had a 37 and Pine Bluff had a 38.

As the high pressure area moves to the east, winds will switch to the south, bringing rising temperatures and partly cloudy skies.

A warm front stemming from a high pressure area centered over Utah could bring showers to Arkansas late in the weekend or early next week.

Blames U.S. for Attacks by Exiles

MOSCOW (AP) — In a strong protest, the Soviet Union today held the United States responsible for the attack on the Soviet freighter Lgov by Cuban exiles March 17 off the north coast of Cuba.

The note asserted that "without material support from the U.S. government and without the supply of American arms and vessels the group of traitors to the Cuban people now hiding on U.S. territory could not engage in this kind of provocation."

The U.S. government, the note continued, "is virtually leading up to a dangerous aggravation of the situation in the Caribbean and throughout the world."

"The Soviet government," the note said, "holds the U.S. government fully responsible for the actions of the Cuban counterrevolutionaries, including their attack on the Soviet merchant vessel Lgov."

"For the U.S.A. to encourage such actions is contrary to the agreement reached between the governments of the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. on the settlement of the crisis in the Caribbean."

The note, made public by the official Soviet news agency Tass, said Cuban counterrevolutionaries approached in a launch and fired several rounds at the ship.

of Isabela la Sagua, on the north coast.

The note made no mention of casualties. Cuban refugees in Miami, Fla., claimed several Soviet soldiers were killed in the attack on the ship and at a nearby Soviet military camp.

Tass reported that the note, handed today to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, declared the Soviet government "expects the U.S. government to take decisive measures to prevent such provocative actions in the future."

Typhoid Outbreak in Switzerland

ZERMATT, Switzerland (AP) — Swiss soldiers are disinfecting the sewers, water pipes and buildings of this ski resort to prevent further outbreaks of typhoid.

More than 400 cases of the disease have been diagnosed among Zermatt residents and European and American visitors since the epidemic started about two weeks ago. At least two Swiss women have died.

Two cases of typhoid were confirmed today in St. Moritz, one of Switzerland's most luxurious resorts. Officials said both came from Zermatt.

Three Americans who visited Zermatt have become ill with typhoid since they returned to the United States. They are Curtis Smith Jr., 45, of Berkeley, Calif.; Mrs. Henry Safran, 24, of New York, and Mrs. Roy Gundersen 18, Hartland, Conn.

Wants Money for State Timberland

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., asked a subcommittee Monday for additional funds to buy timberland in Arkansas.

Fulbright, in a statement filed with the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on the Interior Department, asked for a stepped-up federal timber research and acquisition of additional forest land.

He asked for $292,000 to acquire scattered tracts of land along the proposed Skyline Drive from Mena into Oklahoma, and asked more funds to buy 3,500 acres of private land inside the Ozark National Forest.

The best way to meet foreign lumber import competition is to develop new wood products and improve manufacturing and production in domestic industry, Fulbright said.

Thought For The Day
Men might be better if we

is to condemn it.— Bailey said it.

Lincoln High School
N. H. A. News
The N. H. A. chapter of Lincoln High School, under the supervision of Mrs. Gladys B. W. Golston, has just completed its Housing Unit.

One of the problems found in the study, was how to improve the interior, and appearance of the home.

To solve this problem, the girls did some very decorative projects. Among them were the poodle dogs, and jewelry boxes which were done by the first year class. Smocked pillows were made by the second and third year classes.

The chapter has begun the clothing unit, and are in the process of making garments that will be worn in the Spring Fashion Show which will be presented in the Lincoln High School Gymnasium. The date
will be announced later. Earma

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee, which has heard some 200 witnesses on President Kennedy's tax cut and revision proposals, starts next week the even longer
task of writing a bill.

Informed guessing on Capitol
Hill is that the legislation will go to the House for action in June and that it will contain more immediate tax reduction than Kennedy recommended—about $3 billion—though ultimately the reduction might level off at about his long range figure—$10.2 billion.

Moreover, most congressional observers will be surprised if the committee incorporates in this year's bill more than a minimum of the tax revisions that Kennedy called necessary reforms and recouplings of some of the revenue sacrificed by slashing tax rates.

To provide tax cuts without compensating tax revisions and yet not swell too much an impending $11.9-billion deficit, the committee would have to forego rate reductions as deep as Kennedy recommended. Instead of

WASHINGTON (AP)—Weeb Ewbank, former coach of the Baltimore Colts in the National Football League, said today reports that he has been hired as head coach by the New York Titans were "premature and unfounded."

The report came from an official associated with the American Football League team before it was sold to a five-man syndicate for $1 million following a bankruptcy petition.

Ewbank said Titan officials had approached him with an offer, but he had not decided whether to accept it.

A spokesman for David A. (Sonny) Werblin, head of the new controlling syndicate, also said any announcement of a new coach was premature.

2 Sentenced to Die for Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ralph
and Iva Kroeger were sentenced Tuesday to die for murdering an elderly couple last August to gain possession of their Santa Rosa, Calif., motel.

As the jury returned its verdict,
Iva jumped up, pointed to Ralph and cried, "He wasn't even there!"

"I know," answered Ralph.
An 11-week Superior Court trial of guilt or innocence was interrupted repeatedly by Iva's outbursts.

Iva was arrested in San Diego after a lengthy search. Ralph was jailed Aug. 20, the day the body of Jay Arneson, 68, an invalid ex-Army major, was found in a shallow grave in the basement of the Kroeger home here. The body of Mrs. Arneson, 58, was uncovered a day later, strangled like her former husband whom she had continued to nurse.

Police searched the Kroeger home after a man told them he had been hired by Mrs. Kroeger to dig a hole in the basement.

Ralph said from the beginning,
"I know nothing about it." He pleaded innocent.

Iva pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. Ralph 61, and Iva, 44, were convicted
March 8. The jury also ruled that Iva was sane.

Under California law, a trial to determine penalty had to be held.
The penalty trial lasted only five hours. The jury deliberated 7 hours and 15 minutes before voting death sentences.

U.S. Troops to Be Air Lifted
PARIS (AP)—Gen. Lyman L.
Lemnitz, the supreme Allied commander in Europe, announced today that 1,500 American soldiers will be airlifted from Kansas to Germany April 7-10.

The 2nd Battle Group, 26th Infantry of the 1st Infantry Division will be transferred. The exercise is planned to test command and logistic capabilities for reinforcing North Atlantic Treaty Organization defenses in Europe.

The 1st Battle Group 18th Infantry, which was airlifted to Germany in a previous exercise, will be returned to the United States.

Final Visitation Sends Group to Rosston, Bodcaw

—Hope Star photos.

The final in the current series of Chamber of Commerce visits to surrounding areas was made yesterday by a motorcade carrying 32 persons. The first stop was at Rosston where Grocer-man A. L. Ward headed a welcoming group. The Hope group, escorted by Mr. Ward, visited the Long Timber and Pulpwood Pole plant where Manager Ed Turner showed them around.

Of special interest to the group was the 23 mile long Reader Railway whose 1925 Baldwin engine makes quite a site. The engine with a group of lady passengers is shown above. The special passenger railway car and some of the passengers including several from out of state. The 23 miles which the train travels is virtually a wilderness and the ride appeals to travelers.

The next stop was at Bodcaw where the travelers were welcomed by, front row, left to right: Mrs. J. W. May, Mrs. C. L. Gater, Mrs. J. E. Spink, Mrs. J. D. White. Back row: Mrs.

B. R. Brown, Mrs. B. V. Caudle, Mrs. R. H. Tye, Mrs. W. K. Gibson, Mrs. F. B. Butler and Mrs. J. B. Silvey.

caw, where they were welcomed by Supt. T. J. Silvey, the group toured the iron ore field, visited a 90,000 capacity chicken operation and a school forest and enroute home stopped by the Texas Eastern Station.

Bobcat Golf Team Downs Magnolia

The Hope High School "Bobcat" golf team defeated the Magnolia High School team Tuesday 131-121, points to 4 1/2 points. The match was played at Magnolia Country Club.

Medalist for the eight players was Paul Wheatley of Magnolia with a score of 75, followed closely by David Waddle Jr., of Hope. Hope will play Texarkana at the Texarkana Country Club Friday.

Members of the 1963 Hope High golf team are Mickey Huber, David Waddle, Jimmy Pilkinton and Sammy Strong.

Another Jockey Hits It Double

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Jockey Michael Keller, has been involved in another big twin double payoff at Jefferson Downs.

Keller, who was aboard one of the winners in an $8,200 bonanza Tuesday night, brought home two winners in a $7,174 twin double Wednesday night.

Many of the twin double winners take their inspiration from Arab, bringing onto the track scene a dazzling array of finely draped turbans, tiaras and helmets.

Record Shows Coach Made Several Calls

ATLANTA (AP)—Records show that Wallace Butts made telephone calls to persons who had been involved in gambling on college sports events, "but there is no evidence that Butts was engaged in gambling," Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook of Georgia says.

Cook said Wednesday that he had found no violation of state law in alleged telephone conversations between Butts, former Georgia athletic director, and football coach Paul Bryant of Alabama.

The Georgia attorney general, who is investigating charges that Butts and Bryant conspired to rig the Georgia-Alabama football game last fall, indicated that final disposition of the case would be up to the Southeastern Conference as an ethical, not legal, matter.

At Birmingham, Ala., SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore said he is calling a meeting of the conference executive committee. But he said it might be a month before the members could get together.

"I am not calling the meeting because of Butts and Bryant," Moore said. "Of course, if we get the meeting, it will be discussed."

The commissioner said he was still investigating the charges against Butts and Bryant "and I will present my findings to the executive committee."

The Saturday Evening Post said on March 23 edition that Butts had been Bryant eight days before the Sept. 22 game and gave away secret information on Georgia's team.

Butts and Bryant have denied rigging the game, which Alabama won 35-0, and both men have denied gambling on football games. Butts has filed a $10 million libel suit against the Post publishers.

Cook said some of the calls were made to persons who had been involved in gambling before the alleged Sept. 22 game.

The attorney general said the case is being investigated by the U.S. Senate Investigations Committee. Chief Counsel Donald

McDonnell of the committee said Tuesday he had found no evidence of gambling in connection

12 Players Picked for Cage Team

The trials will be held next Monday and Tuesday nights in Kansas City, with four 12-man teams. There will be two double-headers each night. Then the U.S. team will be selected for the Pan-Am games next month at Sao Paulo, Brazil, and for the world tournament in May in Rio de Janeiro.

The Amateur Athletic Union and Armed Forces teams have been announced. Still being picked is a NCAA university division all-star team.

NCAA selections for the college all-stars were Jeff Outweight, 6-foot-8, Chapman, Calif.; Ernest Jackson, 6-1, South Carolina State; Bobby Nunn, 6-5, Olethorpe; Frank Ryan, 6-5, North-eastern, Mass.; Mike Wisneski, 5-10, St. Norbert, Wis.; and Bill Wilcombs, 6-3, Scranton, Pa.

WHITE OR COLOR

Farm Club Ups and Bops the Frisco Giants

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Dark, the San Francisco manager has watched his National League champions in some lukewarm performances this spring, but he was a bit embarrassed Wednesday when the Giants' Tacoma farm club up and bopped the parent club 10-9 in an exhibition game at Casa Grande.

The little Giants trailed the big Giants 9-1 going into the eighth. Jesus Alou—the lone member of the three Alou brothers not with the parent club—got things rolling for the farmhands with a two-run homer in the eighth.

Then the firing really started. Jim Ray Hart cracked a three-run homer that finally tied it 9-9 in the ninth, and the winner came across on a triple by Ron Phifer, two intentional passes, and a single by Marion Talton that crossed-up the big Giants strategy.

Bob Bolin was the victim of the eighth and ninth inning bombing as the Giants lost their ninth in 10 games. They are now 6-12 overall, but Dark said he won't "start worrying until opening day. That's soon enough."

Low Burdette, trying to regain a starting berth with Milwaukee after spending much of 1962 in the bullpen, allowed only four hits and one run in six innings as the Braves belted Detroit 6-1 at West Palm Beach. It was the first earned run off Burdette in 23 innings.

Early Wynn, hoping to show enough to stick with the Chicago White Sox and get a chance at victory No. 300, yielded only one single in a three-inning workout before Ed Fisher completed a 3-0 shutout against Washington at Sacramento.

Jim O'Toole, who has publicly stated that he wants Cincinnati's opening day pitching assignment and is out to get it, held the Los Angeles Dodgers to four hits for six innings. John Flavin finished up for the Reds with a no-hit stint in a 6-0 triumph at Vero Beach.

And rookie Darcelino Lopez, 19, a southpaw, pitched two-hit ball for six innings and contributed a two-run homer to a 16-hit attack that gave Philadelphia a 9-2 triumph over Kansas City at Bradenton.

Plant Survey

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP)—A survey has begun here for employees for the Warwick Manufacturing Company. The firm has announced plans to locate a plant here that would eventually employ some 1,000 workers, about 60 per cent of whom would be women. The names of some 3,000 potential employees are needed. The firm will manufacture television sets.

Yankees defeated Minnesota 7-6 at Orlando, the Los Angeles Angels edged Boston 4-3 at Scottsdale, the Chicago Cubs outlasted Cleveland 12-11 at Tucson and the New York Mets defeated St. Louis 6-4 at St. Petersburg.

Catcher Ed Sadowski was the No. 1 gun for the Angels, belting a decisive ninth inning homer after earlier doubling home a run and scoring one. Bob Turley, on trial with Los Angeles, was touched for three runs and six hits in a six-inning workout.

Azalea Golf Meet to Start

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—The $20,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament, which has produced three playoffs in the last five years, begins its 15th staging today with the absence of a clear cut favorite making it possible that more overtime play will be required to determine the winner.

The tournament has been passed up by the elite of the touring professional clan, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus, who are looking ahead to next week's Augusta Masters. Only one of the current 10 leading money winners and five of last year's top 15 are here.

This absence of dominant figures on the 6,651-yard, par 72 Cape Fear Country Club course should make for a wide-open scramble.

New Sportswear Hails Navy and Western Influence

America's colorful West and the clean blues of seashore and mountains combine to give inspiration to three major themes in new sportswear for Spring.

Under the Western influence come all the cowboy-type things like sport shirts in calico prints or big flashy checks and trousers in denim and chambray. Rivets, contrasting stitching and novelty patterns are seen in profusion in this brand new trend.

The nautical look, introduced last season, has settled into the scene solidly this Spring, with blue in every hue evidenced widely. Sparkling navy blue joins with a range of pastels to offset to perfection a new range of silvery "pewter" grays. They also look clean and bright with white.

Even the bell bottom sailor trousers of the Twenties get into the nautical act. Salty crew-neck and boat-neck knit-shirts go with the white ducks — and team well with walk shorts which are a must practically everywhere.

The sportswear picture which often transplants the ski look to summer fun, is further, filled in by the trend to coordinates in smart weekendwear. Sport jackets, slacks and walk shorts are often from the same bolt of cloth. The patterns and solids they go with are coordinated in texture, and sometimes have trimming in the opposite mix-match pattern.

Not only are the colors easier on the eye because of this ensemble planning, but there are some inspired new shades to add to familiar favorites. One major color theme newly introduced is "banana," a handsome soft yellow that teams well with browns and grays. And there are rusts and tans that do nicely with olives.

Hand-knit sweaters and hand-knit-type sweaters are popularly seen everywhere. Cables and a score of novelty stitches are widely evident, as well as the ski-type argyle patterns — all, of course, light in weight for the warmer days ahead Spring sportswear has even borrowed parka hoods from the ski slopes, to go with sailing costumes.

Pleatless and single-pleat slacks are sharing honors this season — in flannels, gabardines and bengalines. Washwear cottons may be expected to be worn with the first warm week.

There is nothing to beat the current popularity of Bermuda walk shorts in Madras — that muted mélange of colors that actually improves in looks with washing. Plaids, checks, and stripes and solids also come in for plenty of attention.

Not least in the fresh new wardrobe for springtime sports occasions is any of the big range of straw casual hats. Hatch for them in small pert shapes or wide-brimmed sombreros. Sports caps, in cloth or leather, still have their avid followers — especially among golfers, sailors and the sportscar set.

All in all, the big word in sportswear for Spring is variety. Old favorites remain and are holding their own — while there is much that is new to add to the scene.

More Talks on Berlin Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin are expected to meet again in about a week to continue their exploratory talks on Berlin, authoritative sources reported today.

Rusk and Dobrynin conferred for an hour Tuesday at the State Department. The session produced nothing new, the two being satisfied to restate their governments' well-known positions on the Communist-encircled city, the sources said.

The State Department, in accordance with long-standing practice, immediately arranged a briefing session for the three allies directly interested in the fate of the city. The British, French, and West German ambassadors are scheduled to meet today with Llewellyn Thompson, Rusk's principal adviser on Soviet affairs.

Officials said they were not surprised the first Rusk-Dobrynin session did not produce much. It is understandable, they said, that first the two men re-establish the groundwork after a gap of five months since talks were last held before probing what can be done to find some basis for formal negotiations.

The meeting was devoted exclusively to Germany in general and to Berlin in particular, officials said. They said that first Dobrynin reiterated the old Moscow position that a peace treaty with West Germany and East Germany be concluded and that West Berlin be transformed into a "free" city. Rusk restated the Allies view that a peace treaty can be concluded only with a unified Germany and that the West would not abandon the 2 million Germans who live in West Berlin.

Court Halts Red Fishing Expeditions

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Looking for Communist subversion is one thing but using communism as an excuse for prying into the private affairs of private organizations is something else and not to be tolerated.

This in effect was Monday's Supreme Court decision throwing out the conviction of Theodore R. Gibson. It puts a brake on fishing expeditions by legislative committees that lack a legitimate excuse for asking questions.

Gibson was president of the Miami branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People when in 1959 a Florida legislative committee demanded he produce the membership list.

The committee said it wanted the list to ask him whether it included any of 14 persons named by a committee investigator as Communist party members who took part in NAACP affairs.

The chairman told Gibson the committee was first concerned with the "activities of various organizations which have been or are presently operating in this state in the field of race relations."

The chairman also said the inquiry would be directed toward Communist activities, including infiltration of organizations operating in various fields, including race.

Gibson looked at the names and photographs of the 14 persons previously identified as Communists or members of front organizations. He said he could associate none of them with the NAACP.

But he refused to produce the list of the Miami NAACP's membership of about 1,000 persons, arguing he didn't have to because of the First and Fourteenth amendments protecting rights of free speech and free association.

He was charged with contempt, tried in a state court, convicted and sentenced to six months in jail. His appeal finally reached the Supreme Court.

Justice Arthur Goldberg read the majority opinion putting aside the conviction.

He said the court wasn't denying the "legislative right" to investigate or legislate with "re-vestigate to subversive activities by Communists or anyone else."

are neither engaged in subversive or other illegal or improper activities, nor demonstrated to have any substantial connection with such are to be protected in their rights of free and private association."

He pointed out there was no suggestion that the NAACP or its Miami branch were subversive organizations and that the record of the case indicates the NAACP is against communism.

In other words, the court held that the Florida committee didn't have a real excuse in this case to say it was looking for Communists in the NAACP and without such an excuse it had no right to pry in privacy.

In this case, Goldberg explained, the real object of the investigation was not to find Communists but to dig into the NAACP to find out who its members were since the investigators already knew about the Communists they had in mind.

There have been previous decisions along this line. Monday's ruling was just one more step in the increasing effort the court is making to protect individual freedoms.

Goldberg said his opinion doesn't interfere with the right of a state legislature to inform itself through investigations to protect its vital interests. In this case, by the court's findings, Florida's vital interests were not at stake.

Legislative investigators may be a little more careful about where they barge in on the privacy of individuals or organizations.

But there undoubtedly will be more cases of stepping over the line and the court in turn will have to decide them on their merits since each may be a little different.

Here are some examples: March 25—A 5-4 majority ruled that Communist-hunting legislators cannot dig freely into the affairs of groups not linked clearly with "subversive or other illegal or improper activities."

Goldberg was with the liberal majority. White with the conservative dissenting minority of Harlan, Clark and Stewart.

March 18—In a unanimous, 9-0 decision, the court ruled out use of drugs in obtaining confessions from arrested persons.

March 18—Again the nine justices were unanimous in saying a state must provide counsel to defend poor defendants in all criminal cases.

March 18—The court, 6 to 3, ruled that a pauper has a right to counsel if he wants to appeal his conviction.

This time Goldberg and White were with the four liberals. The dissenters again were Harlan, Clark and Stewart.

March 18—In a 5-4 split the court held that paupers in crim-

If you are looking for ways to prepare interesting meals without meat, consider the many possibilities offered by using cereals. Breakfast cereals make important contributions of protein, the B-complex vitamins, minerals and food energy to the diet. This cereal ring combines shredded wheat with cheese and eggs and is filled with creamed shrimp. It is tops for good eating . . . and nutritious and flavorful. To complete the meal serve green peas garnished with strips of pimiento, a salad and your favorite cookies.

Wheat Cereal Ring With Creamed Shrimp
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 2 teaspoons finely chopped onion
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 2 cups milk, scalded
 4 Nabisco Shredded Wheat biscuits, crushed
 5 eggs, slightly beaten
 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 3 tablespoons chopped parsley

Combine first five ingredients with milk, pour over the shredded wheat and allow to stand 10-15 minutes. Stir in remaining four ingredients, mix thoroughly. Turn into a well-greased 1-quart ring mold set in a shallow pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 50-60 minutes, or until firm. About 20 minutes before ring is to be taken from the oven, prepare the creamed shrimp. Turn the cooked ring onto a platter, fill the center with the creamed shrimp. Garnish with additional pimiento. Makes six servings.

Creamed Shrimp
 1 1/2 cups milk
 Thinly peeled rind of 1/2 lemon
 3 whole cloves
 2 small bay leaves
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1/2 cup flour
 2 cups cooked cleaned shrimp
 2 tablespoons chopped Dromedary Pimiento

In a covered saucepan, slowly heat first six ingredients. Remove from heat, allow to stand ten minutes. Strain. Melt butter or margarine. Blend in flour, gradually add milk, cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Stir in shrimp and pimiento. Keep warm over hot water. Makes six servings.

'Skimmer' Styling Is Still the No. 1 Fashion Hit

inal cases must get a copy of the court record for appealing their cases.

Here again Goldberg, voting with the four liberals, made a majority decision possible for them. White joined Harlan, Clark and Stewart in dissent.

March 18—The court, 8 to 1, knocked out Georgia's county-unit system in voting, which meant each person's vote should be counted as one vote and not be lost through a county system in a statewide election.

Harlan was the dissenter. Feb. 25—By an 8-1 vote the court ruled 187 Negroes were unjustly convicted of breach of the peace in demonstrating against racial segregation in South Carolina.

Goldberg and White were part of the majority. Clark alone dissented.

Feb. 18—The court, 5 to 4, knocked out federal laws which strip citizenship from persons who stay abroad in wartime to avoid military service.

Goldberg was with the liberal majority. White joined Harlan, Clark and Stewart in dissenting. Jan. 14—The court, 6 to 3, said aid given by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in integration suits in Virginia is a form of political expression which states cannot control.

In this Goldberg and White were part of the liberal majority. Again Harlan, Clark and Stewart were in dissent.

In every one of these cases—all involving individual rights or freedoms — Goldberg voted with the liberal group, but White was against three of the nine cases. That's not enough to peg him one way or the other.

Held in Contempt for Second Time

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Julius (Sonny) Gerard Jr. of Little Rock was held in contempt of Pulaski Circuit Court for the second time Monday on grounds that he violated a court order to stay out of the private club business.

Circuit Judge William J. Kirby, who had issued the order, again revoked the suspension of a one-year sentence that Gerard previously had received in connection with a shooting incident at a private club in North Little Rock in February 1961.

Gerard also was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail for permitting gambling at the club the night of March 17, 1962, the occasion when he allegedly operated the club in violation of the court order.

Gerard testified Monday that he was in the club that night as a guest and had an interest in its affairs because all the equipment was his and he had rented to the club for $150 a month.

The state Supreme court on Jan. 21, 1963, reversed Gerard's first contempt conviction on grounds Judge Kirby erred in his hearing by refusing to let Gerard testify in his own defense.

Spring 1963 is a season of evolution, not revolution, in fashion. The silhouette changes are subtle rather than drastic, yet there is a very new look to every costume, for every hour.

The most important and newest of the season's trends may be summed up as the natural look. The silhouette is naturalistic, following the natural curves of the figure without undue emphasis on any part of the figure.

The flow of fabric is uncluttered, though this seeming simplicity may be achieved by detailing draping, bias cut or unusual fabrics.

This natural line is sometimes called the "skimmer" for the garment skims the body; sometimes called the "soft" or the "saree" because of the elimination of unnecessary material.

With the clean line of the basic silhouette there is the added excitement of the accessory look, scarves that wrap the shoulders, in little caplets and big capes, in stoles that wrap about the shoulders.

Part of the natural look is the suit with easy jacket, the dress with top as casual as a middie, the soft blousing of a cocktail dress, the fluid skirt.

Yet with the appreciation of the natural, there is a feeling of drama in fashion. You can be as casual as a tennis star or as exotic as a rajah, as glamorous as a movie queen!

New is the feeling for a higher waistline. This is evident in the cut of a coat or in a demi-fitted jacket and obvious in many of the smartest dresses. The belted jacket suit is new, the longer jacket is striking.

Spring colors are clear and glowing or subtle as water colors. The traditional neutrals of beige and camel are chalked and whitened as are the gray tones but pure white is the high style neutral of the season. Black and white combine in many of the striking plaids and checks and red, white and blue tricolors are happy revivals.

The basic simplicity of silhouette and treatment allows for lavish use of accessories. Jewelry with a "real" look is in high favor with imaginative pins, mobile necklaces, dramatic bracelets and earrings featured for daytime and late day wear.

And, skirt hems stay put in soft relaxed dresses — just covering the knee. They go a mile longer in the pleated, A-line or softly-full fashions.

Off Waiver List

VESO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Duke Snider's name has been taken off the waiver list. If the New York Mets want the veteran Los Angeles Dodger outfielder, they can get him for about $40,000, or twice the waiver price.

The Duke, 36, is still a big drawing card in New York and some grounds judge Kirby erred in his hearing by refusing to let Gerard testify in his own defense.

Simple New Fashions Call for Jewelry

Casual and classic lines in spring '63 fashions beg for jewelry. Simple but elegant necklines and sleeves inspire jewelry ideas to complement their lines.

Pins lead as a popular jewelry form due to their versatility. They can be worn on all types of fabric, on most apparel and changed about in every conceivable angle. Flap-pockets on spring suit jackets can be dramatized with single bold clips. A burnished gold pin touched with diamonds lends elegance to snap-on-and-off stoles featured on wool suits.

Collarless suits demand adornment; a scarf anchored with an impressive pin, or a choker necklace worn in combination with a pin set at the shoulder level. Coats, also collarless this season, yield to scarf-pins accented for soft flattery to the face.

Sweater suits and fine knits put jewelry on display. V-necklines need fill-in focal points such as pins at the base of the neckline. A sentimental gold engraved locket centered with a diamond returns as a favorite for the plunging neckline. Ornate, clasps on necklaces add design interest when worn center front.

Chanel's influence continues as cardigan suits call for jeweled touches on neck and shoulder lines. The "little boy suit" with rounded collar assumes jeweled freshness when twin pins are placed below it and not on its edges.

Bateau and straight necklines in blouses and dresses show an imaginative flair when accented with a pin or clip perched on the ridge near the shoulder seam. A woman who wishes to elongate her neckline, however, should rely on a matinee-length necklace.

Revived interest in the lantern sleeve and puff sleeve emphasizes the wearing of bracelets. Designs in bracelet should be selected according to the size of the wrist and length of arm. A bracelet-watch of medium width is a good fashion investment. At the flick of a finger, a center cover flips up to reveal a watch face, some haloed with diamonds or engravings. This is the ultimate in keeping time under cover in a fashionable way.

Rockefeller Heads Mental Drive

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller, 1963 chairman of the National Association for Mental Health, says the organization may forego its door-to-door fund drive this year in favor of more support from business and industry and donors of large contributions.

Rockefeller told a strategy meeting of regional campaign leaders here Saturday that the organization's Bell Ringer March would not bring in enough money to effectively meet the increased demands for mental health services sparked by President Kennedy's mental health message.

Last year the association raised more than $6 million through the efforts of 900 local chapters.

Spring Calls for Hairdo That Flatters

Why don't you try to do something different with your hair this spring? Spring is the time for a new look, a new line, a new lift. Changing your hair-style shape to a fresh, spring fashion 'do is so easy these days with self-styling hair sprays, and a handful of rollers and clips.

You can brush it into a swirled cap of casual curls, or brush in a rounded puff bang, or flip up the sides into a winged hair-do. These and countless more spring styling tricks are possible with "Adorn", now packaged with a styling tricks booklet with new hairstyle photographs and instructions on how to do each of them.

For the casual-cap coif, brush all hair back from the forehead. With your comb, turn up the ends of curls all over your head. Pull down tendrils bangs over one temple. This is an easily kept hairdo for daytime activities during spring and summer.

For more of a change in line with flipped up curls, spray your hair first then wind a few rollers where you want flipped up ends, or height or fullness. Use clips for pincurling cheek curls or swirled bangs. Puffy bangs are set on large rollers wound under. The new setting will dry in about fifteen minutes, then you're ready to brush in a fresh spring coif. There are endless such variations for you to try for fun and fashion.

And here's another little styling trick: You can refresh a crushed or mussed hairdo without re-spraying. Simply dampen the comb with water and run it through your hair. This reactivates the spray as you re-comb into place.

What will you do with your hair this spring? Give yourself a headstart toward a fresh, new spring hairdo!

Portugal May Expel Bidault

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Portuguese security police questioned former French Premier Georges Bidault today and a spokesman indicated he may be expelled from the country.

Police picked up Bidault's luggage. This aroused speculation he would be taken direct to the airport or to another hideout.

A police spokesman said Bidault and his secretary, Guy Ribeaud, "are under an investigation which may last until the moment they leave the country."

The Foreign Ministry said they were being questioned to find out why they came to Portugal and how they got into the country. Bidault and the secretary arrived by plane Tuesday from Munich, Germany, under false names.

The Portuguese government has already announced that it will not allow Bidault to carry on his political maneuvers to overthrow French President Charles de Gaulle.

Wilson's 14 Point Plan to Kennedy

EDITOR'S NOTE—If the Labor party wins the next general election in Britain Harold Wilson will become the first Laborite prime minister since 1951. In the following dispatch, AP correspondent Arthur Gavshon, a veteran observer of the British scene, reviews the 14-point program Wilson will put before President Kennedy this week.

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — Another Wilson's 14 points will be laid before President Kennedy this weekend. Woodrow Wilson's 14 points helped set the pattern for Europe after World War I. Harold Wilson's 14 points would set the pattern for British policy if his Labor party wins the next general election, as many British political observers expect. The election must be held before October 1964. Wilson flies to the United States Thursday for his first meeting with Kennedy since Wilson was elected head of the Labor party last month. The program he will outline includes at least three sharp departures from allied policy.

They are: Limited recognition of Communist East Germany and recognition of Poland's title to German territory occupied after World War II.

Soviet and U.S. withdrawal from a neutralized central European zone of controlled armaments made up of West and East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Nuclear weapons would be barred from the area.

Communist China's admission to the United Nations in place of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists.

Some of Wilson's 14 points would swing Britain into closer alignment with the Kennedy administration. Others would take Britain toward a middle position in the cold war.

Here are the issues:

1. Relations with the United States:

"We (Laborites) recognize the facts of the world economic and political situation," Wilson has said. "We want to cooperate with America—to influence them. We hope they will be equally frank with us."

Wilson wants to cancel the 1962 Nassau agreement under which Kennedy promised to supply U.S. Polaris missiles for British nuclear-powered submarines. He favors transferring American bases on British soil, including the nuclear submarine depot at Holy Loch, Scotland, to NATO. He would like a more liberal American trade and tariff policy.

2. North Atlantic Treaty Organization:

Wilson regards NATO as "central both in our defense and foreign policy" but insists on a reform of the alliance and its strategy. Britain to begin with should strengthen her contribution. Then NATO armies should lessen their reliance on nuclear weapons by building up conventional power, as Kennedy urges.

Dr. Benson to Be Honored

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. George Benson, president of Harding College at Searcy, will be honored April 1 at a luncheon by Little Rock business leaders.

B. Finley Vinson, president of the First National Bank of Little Rock, said he and presidents of three other Little Rock banks would sponsor the meeting.

Against Old Mates

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels sent Bob Turley, ex-Yankee, against the Boston Red Sox today, and his showing may decide whether he sticks with the club.

This, Hilson thinks, would cut the risk of nuclear fighting. He stresses the need to bar the spread of nuclear arms to Allied powers. Instead, a system of collective political control of the Western nuclear deterrent should be evolved.

Garnish Carrot-Cereal Pudding With Tiny New Carrots

Hot whole wheat breakfast cereal, cooked until smooth; tiny new carrots, cooked, mashed and drained; eggs, milk and seasonings! These are the ingredients of a pudding which is as smooth as custard and as surprising to children as rain on a sunny day! The crisp little carrots used as garnish for our carrot-cereal dessert can, for this once, take the place of a cookie? Breakfast cereals are excellent for ingredient use in recipes because they are inexpensive, convenient, add flavor and texture, and make nutritional contributions of protein, important B vitamins, essential minerals, and food energy.

Golden Wheat Pudding

1/4 cup hot whole wheat cereal, uncooked 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon 1/4 cup water 1/2 teaspoon ginger 1 1/4 cups milk, scalded 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg 3 eggs, beaten 1 cup mashed cooked or canned carrots, well drained 1/2 cup brown sugar, packed 1/4 teaspoon salt

Cook cereal as directed on package (in 1 1/4 cups water). Combine cooked cereal and milk; beat well. Stir in eggs, brown sugar, salt, spices and carrots. Pour into 1 1/2 quart shallow casserole or greased mold. Bake in slow oven (325°F) until set, about 45 minutes. Cool to room temperature. Chill the mold three or four hours before unmolding. Serve with orange preserves thinned with pineapple juice, and whipped cream. Yield: 8 servings.

MATCHMAKERS SHUBBED BY PAIR THEY INTRODUCED By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Last August our nephew, of whom we are very fond, came to visit us. We rolled out the red velvet carpet in his honor, took him on picnics, gave parties for him and saw to it that he met all of our friends' sons and daughters. Among the mmas the prettiest girl in town. Quite a belle. Well, it was love at first sight for her and our nephew and in two weeks they were engaged. The wedding is to be this spring.

In December they chose their attendants and we thought of course that they would ask our 21-year-old son to be one of the ushers. In fact, the bride-to-be told our daughter-in-law that our nephew would write his cousin to this effect. Instead, complete silence! Why, we can't comprehend.

Naturally, I am upset. This week the girl phoned me and said she couldn't understand why I took this so to heart, especially since my son wouldn't be able to attend the wedding. Her tone was very flip and I felt quite hurt for if it hadn't been for us, she and our nephew would never have met. The usher chosen is a boy my nephew met just three times.

I'm of the opinion that my son would have got leave to attend the wedding if he had been named as an usher. I had my hopes all built up on his taking part in a romance which my husband and I engineered. Too, our relatives, some of whom haven't laid eyes on him in seven years, would like to see him. Am I oversensitive? Should I take this as a joke and laugh it off? —Matchmaker

Dear Matchmaker: No matter what the circumstances, it is the privilege of the groom, as well as the bride, to invite whom they wish. That is their business, not yours. What's to prevent your son coming to the wedding as a guest if he can get leave? Write the bride-to-be a friendly little note saying you hope your son will be able to obtain leave and be present to help them celebrate.

Be a good sport. Do all in your power to make their wedding as joyous as possible. Sensitive people, of which you are probably one, often read more into a situation than actually exists.

The present generation doesn't take social obligations as seriously as their parents and grandparents did. Whether or not their casual attitude is an improvement upon the past is debatable.

I heard the other day about the young daughter of a friend—the last of the family line—who has inherited the most beautiful solid silver and china tableware. Rather than be bothered with the care of it, she and her husband were using 10-cent store tin knives, forks and spoons and plastic plates, cups and saucers!

Dear Helen: We live in a one-bedroom trailer parked on my in-law's lot. Anything my husband's Mom says is all right with him. I've kept quiet because she is his mother and we live on their property. She thinks no one is good enough for her kids and nothing I ever do is right in her eyes. She even blames me when her son comes home drunk.

I told her she'd hear from me about this and he said I could leave. But the kids need him and would miss him too. Maybe we fight because we're all cooped up in this one-bedroom trailer on his folks' land. —On Edge

Dear On Edge: How about moving the trailer to another part of town? The proximity to your in-laws, rather than the size of your home, is probably the root of the trouble. Start looking for a new location now, even though you

Decorate For The Future

Newlyweds, with more taste than money, are stretching their budgets by buying easy care home furnishings that will not only fill their immediate needs but will also fit into their long range plans. With one eye on their first apartment and another on a family room for a future ranch house, they look to sturdy plastics and man made fibers for color, clean lines, and easy upkeep.

This living dining room is a good example of furniture investment for couples just starting out. The upholstery is the new softer vinyl, neatly tailored. The padding is urethane foam for lasting comfort. Tables, serving carts and storage units all have marproof tops of melamine plastic laminate. Those pictured are in white, but they are also available in woodgrain patterns.

Dinette chairs are upholstered in brocade patterned vinyl, a simple elegance that is maintained with a damp sponge.

For kitchen, bath and foyer young couples like the wall-to-wall look of a new vinyl flooring that has a vinyl foam cushion to make it quieter and more comfortable to walk on. The spatter pattern is the most popular, permanently sealed under clear vinyl, and available by the yard. It may be cut with scissors. Because of the cushion it hugs the floor without adhesive.

When it comes to carpets the newlyweds will do well to consider man-made fibers for living room and bedroom. Acrilan and nylon are mothproof and stain-resistant. A little detergent and water banish most spots. Today these carpets, as well as area rugs, are available in floral designs and in such decorator colors as amethyst, emerald green or burnished gold.

'Avocado Burgers' New Party Pet

The popular beefburger acquires a new partner—luscious California avocado—for party-pretty, palate-pleasing "Avocado Burgers."

Whether you are entertaining youngsters or adults, these hearty open-faced beefburgers with a well seasoned avocado-mayonnaise spread and topping of sliced avocado should receive a lively welcome. Or serve them to the family with a bowl of soup for a quick and delicious supper.

Sliced, diced, mashed or eaten half-shell fashion, California avocados bring refreshing flavor, velvety-smooth texture and spring-like color to menus. Enjoy them often in sandwiches, dips and salads or as main dish garnishes.

Avocado Burgers
2 California avocados ½ cup chopped dill pickle
2 tablespoons lemon juice 2 lbs. ground beef
½ cup mayonnaise Salt and pepper
1 teaspoon seasoned salt 8 French rolls

Cut avocados lengthwise into halves; remove seeds and skin. Save one avocado half for garnish; sprinkle with half of lemon juice. Mash remaining fruit; blend in mayonnaise, seasoned salt, pickle and remaining lemon juice. Chill.

Season beef with salt and pepper; shape 8 burgers to fit rolls. Broil or pan-fry. Split rolls into halves; butter if desired and heat. Place a burger on each of 8 halves. Top with avocado spread and avocado slices. Garnish accompanying roll halves with lettuce or tomato slices if desired. Makes 8 servings.

HOW TO BATHE BABY — DAD-STYLE

Sometimes the new Dad has to do a job that's second nature to Mother. Baby's bath, for instance. Here our expert shows you the easy way!

Any pan that's large enough will do—we use here a new bump-proof vinyl foam baby bath that's insulated to keep the water warm longer. Pour in two to three inches of water heated so that it feels comfortably warm to your elbow.

With clean cotton swabs moistened in water, gently clean ears, nostrils, and the creases around his ears and nose. Use moist cotton for his eyelids. After you've washed and dried Baby's face and hands, shampoo his hair. Rinse thoroughly.

Remove Baby's shirt and soap his chest, arms and hands—especially folds in neck, under arms, and hands. Keep him covered up as much as possible and work quickly, so lather doesn't dry on his skin. Remove diaper and soap lower body, legs and feet.

Keep firm grasp of his arm with one hand, supporting his back and head. Rinse with washcloth in other hand. Lift Baby back on table, cover with towel, and pat dry. Apply oil. Dad, you've done it! You've given your heir a professional bath!

their families for a weekend away from the smog and glitter. Griffith confesses:

"It was just about the most fun I ever had. I never laughed so much."

The television Griffith with a ready, if unspectacular, solution for fictional crises has a counterpart in real life also.

Griffith, a former school teacher in Goldsboro, N.C., is dead serious about his career.

He takes a major hand in script conferences with the show's writers. And realizes that his first major Broadway and movie role, "No Time for Sergeants," cast him as a type. That's why he went into television.

"I want to do this show for five years," he said—to break the cast. Then he wants to try movies again.

Meanwhile, Andy, his wife Barbara and their two children, Sam, 5, and Dixie, 3, live on a half acre in the San Fernando Valley's Toluca Lake section.

Their permanent home—where they hope to retire someday—is 53 acres on wild and rugged Ronoake Island in North Carolina. Griffith's career as an entertainer started there.

He and Barbara appeared in an annual pageant, "The Lost Colony." They soon put together an act for local civic groups with Andy playing guitar, singing and telling jokes. Barbara, a trained vocalist, sang and danced. She also was responsible in a way for Andy's rise to fame.

"She'd booked us to appear before the same group twice," Andy remembers, "and I couldn't do the same act. So while driving the 5 miles from home to the second appearance, I made up a new monolog and called it "What it was, was football."

It was so successful, he recorded it for a small record company in Goldsboro. Capitol Records heard it and signed him to a contract.

He's with them still—just ambling along, crack.

Golfers Have Their Little Secrets Too

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American ingenuity, which has split the atom, put man in orbit and planted Telesat in the heavens, now has come up with the ultimate in scientific achievement—a release valve for the agitated golfer.

The secret is the expendable putter.

In a manicured rage, you can smash it to splinters. Then, with a flick of the wrist, you can restore the club to good health and continue about your business.

This dream gadget of the short-tempered golfer is not a gimmick. It is the design of established golf engineers and the project of one of the country's leading sporting goods manufacturers, parent company of the firm that makes Ben Hogan's clubs.

"We have put out several hundred and they have been gobbled up like pancakes," said the designing engineer, Ben Holderness of New York. "We intend to put them on the mass market."

The unique implement is called the Temper Tamer. It consists of a heavy brass blade, a leather grip and three shafts. The shafts can be screwed interchangeably into the blade and grip.

One of the shafts is made of strong laminated wood. It is labeled "permanent." It would be hard to crack with a sledgehammer. The other two are of fragile maple, firm enough for putting purposes but weak enough to snap like match sticks under duress. They are clearly marked "breakable."

It's the latter two which take the punishment for a flubbed putt across the knee of a putter. The price of the original putter is $30, complete with one unbreakable and two expendable shafts. Spares may be bought in lots of three for $13.50. That's $13.50 a

Six in Tucker Death Row

The other five are Negroes who

Allied and Bell Continue Deal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Allied Telephone Co. agreed Monday to allow Southwestern Bell Telephone to continue to tie its special circuits into Allied exchanges in the area of 10 Titan II missiles.

The agreement between the two Little Rock-based companies was announced prior to an Arkansas Public Service Commission hearing on the case.

PSC Chairman Lewis M. Robinson said the commission would review the agreement and fees involved in the settlement to determine whether they meet PSC regulations.

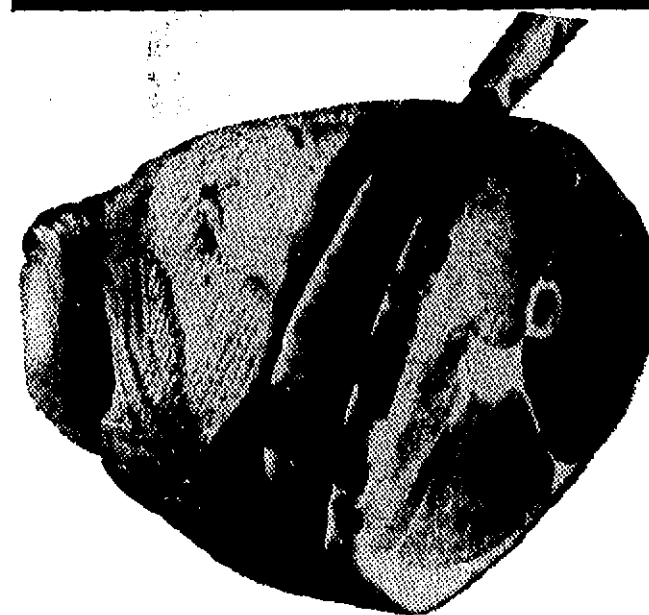

The companies had argued the exact point in Allied territory at which Southwestern Bell would begin paying service charges on the circuits.

Faubus gave the state Alcoholism Commission $750 from his emergency fund Saturday to pay the salary of a secretary-counselor for April to June 30, when the state Rehabilitation Service will begin paying the salary. Rainwear Goes High Fashion Too

A raincoat is not a raincoat but rather a coat that "shines" in the rain and looks like a million under the sun.

Water-repellent, often milium lined for all-weather comfort, new coats for rain days come in just about every 1963 style . . . every fiber . . . every fabric.

THE TOPCOAT comes back! Streamlined for the new season, it's slim but not skinny, tailored but not man-tailored. Designed as the coverall, it's the raincoat style most likely to succeed for rain or shine . . . for day or night. Like the once good Chesterfield, it is sleeker with a bit of tapering at the hemline. A bit of ease at the back and a smooth single breasted front.

The topcoat comes back taking the place of the long-time A-line, to develop "a new main line" in spring raincoats.

The coat style that's moving in at front and out at back is the number two raincoat. It's destined to be a favorite among the more fashion-conscious where better fabrics, better tailoring hold the more shapely line. However, more popular-priced manufacturers turn to laminated fabrics for in and out shaping. Or . . . simply simulate the look with non-functional front seaming. The shaped coat (at any price) is more often dressed up in silk and silky fabrics.

THE PONCHO is bigger and better this spring. The favorite slips over the head or has a front closing and casually fastens at the sides. Many reversibles in ponchos flip from wool plaid to solid poplin. NOW silk ponchos star for night life. Ponchos and skirt: a new twosome.

THE SLICKER is getting away from the established vinyl coat fabrics and into denims, seersuckers and cotton prints (with and without foam backing). NEW cropped slickers are leveling off two and four inches below the hip-line.

THE COSTUME, in rainwear is growing slowly but steadily. Devotees of the rainsuit, the raincoat and dress, the poncho and skirt continue to present them with fashion conviction.

There will always be THE CLASSICS with, balmacaans now flipping from solid poplin to leopard print or in poplin lined with poplin. Trenchcoats now look better with single breasted closings. Chesterfields now come in madras type plaids; many of these are for all seasons with milium linings.

TEXTURE is shown in real or simulated linens and the real or wild silks. Prints are big . . . wild . . . colorful . . . often zany; they come in abstracts, print paisleys and photographic florals.

CROWN ROAST of lamb is spectacular and tasty.

Cager Honored

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—With Duke basketball coach Vic Bubas looking on proudly, Art Heyman received the Associated Press national Player-of-the-Year award here Tuesday night.

The 6-foot-4 Blue Devil spark-plug, who led Duke to third place in the national collegiate championship, received the award at the annual Atlantic Coast Conference basketball jamboree.

His Turn to Wash Dishes

BALDWIN, Mich. (AP)—A search party of 25 volunteers and state police spent Saturday night combing the woods 10 miles south of here for Roger Robbins, 12.

Roger, son of Mrs. Ila Hiltz, returned to his home near this northwestern lower Michigan community at 5 a.m. Sunday.

He explained that he had dodged the searchers for seven hours because "it was my turn to wash the dishes."

High Court Has Liberal Majority

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (P)—The nine-man Supreme Court — thanks to Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, its newest member—now has a consistent liberal majority in cases involving civil rights and individual freedoms.

Less consistent or predictable— is the course which Justice Byron R. White, the second newest member, will follow.

He has shifted sides just enough in his short time on the bench to avoid being nailed down positively as a liberal or conservative. But he has been more conservative than Goldberg, whose record has been consistently liberal.

Both men were named to the court last year by President Kennedy as successors to two conservative justices who retired because of poor health: White for Charles E. Whittaker and Goldberg for Felix Frankfurter.

Frankfurter had pleaded for judicial restraint and deference to the wishes of Congress and state legislatures; in short, to the interests of government as against those of individuals. Whittaker leaned to that side, too.

"They sometimes shifted positions on individual cases, as did the three other conservatives still on the court: Justices John M. Harlan, Tom Clark, and Potter Stewart.

When they stuck together these five conservatives prevailed as a majority.

It was when one or more of them shifted that the four liberals on the court—Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Hugo Black, William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr.—could hand down a majority opinion, particularly in intervening against restraints on individual rights.

Little was known of White's views when he became a justice. He had been an attorney and Kennedy backer in the 1960 campaign. Goldberg, a former labor lawyer, was known as a liberal on social and political matters.

But no positive forecast could be made on the course either Goldberg or White would follow since a previous position is not a guarantee of what a man's views will be once he goes on the court. Frankfurter had been a hero to the liberals before he became a justice.

This year the Warren-Black-Douglas-Brennan liberal group has been able to hand down one majority opinion.

White has been less consistently on the liberal side.

Speedup in Congress Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic leaders launched a hunt today for some legislative eggs to stock their Easter basket before Congress halts its shuffling pace for a mid-April vacation.

President Kennedy is reported to have urged administration lieutenants to adopt a speed-up schedule to offset the Republican charge that the 86th Congress has sloughed off three months without doing anything.

As a result, Democratic leaders have arranged for consideration later this week of a $500-million mass transportation bill, a measure they aren't at all sure will pass.

Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, said this will be followed by a youth employment bill which is likely to have almost solid Republican—and some Democratic—opposition.

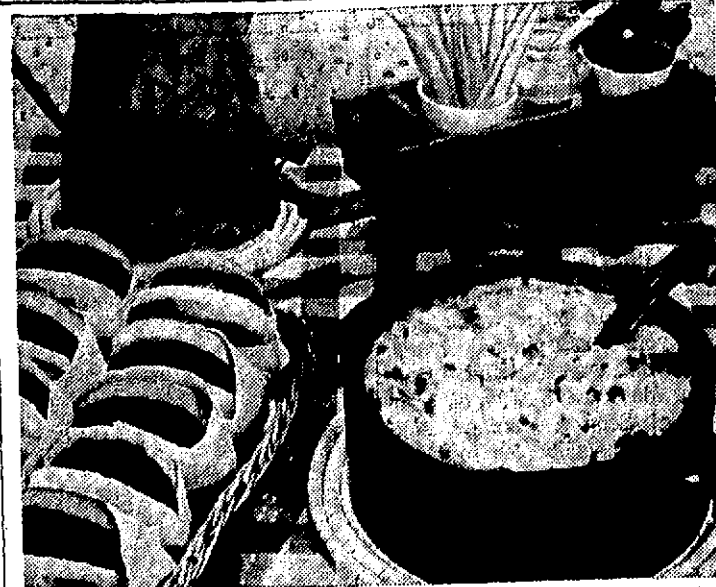

The House got a couple of the routine departmental money bills ready for action. Leaders were set to try to pry a medical and dental aid measure out of the Rules Committee.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in an interview it is all right with him if the administration wants to prod the Senate into action. But he said he thinks a lot of members will be "hot under the collar" if they are kept on the job through Good Friday, April 12.

Dirksen said Republicans will take no position as a party on the mass transportation bill. He said it generally is regarded as "an East Coast measure," with members from that area supporting it and those from other sections generally opposed.

Mental Health

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MOBILE, Ala. (P)—Robert D. Edwards of Columbia, S. C. has been named executive director of the Arkansas Association for Mental Health. The appointment was announced Tuesday by Mrs. Winthrop Rockefeller, president of the association. Rockefeller has been named director of the 1963 national fund drive for mental health. Edwards will assume his new post April 15.

"LAWRENCE OF ARABIA"

Masculine dash and daring appeals to the feminine heart and makes a deep impression on spring fashions with the release of the spectacular film about "Lawrence of Arabia." The mystery of the ever-changing desert and the flowing grace of the Bedouin garb brings a "Chic Sheikh" look to the feminine costume for spring.

AP&L Man Dies

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Thomas Orr Fletcher, Pine Bluff manager of Arkansas Power & Light Co., died Sunday of a heart attack at a Pine Bluff hospital at the age of 56. Fletcher, a native of Paragould, had been with the utility company 33 years. Funeral and burial will be Tuesday at Pine Bluff.

Troops to Report to Camp Chaffee

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP)—The first of some 14,000 troops who will undergo two weeks of annual training at Ft. Chaffee this summer are expected to arrive June 1.

Largest of the units to be trained is the 8,000-man 45th Infantry Division, a National Guard unit from Oklahoma City, Okla., due here Aug. 4-18.

The first group scheduled is the 114th Evacuation Hospital Unit from Shreveport, La., a reserve unit.

Several Arkansas National Guard units are scheduled for training at Chaffee, including the 2,000-man 142nd Artillery Group headquartered at Fayetteville.

Other units will come from Little Rock, North Little Rock, Lake Village, Dermott, Fort Smith, Booneville and DeWitt.

Dr. Anders' Dilemma

Chapter XXXIV

Relieved by Corrado for a half-hour's lunch period, David used the time to go up to 1621. He scarcely noticed that Miss Donovan stepped aside without a word. In a daze he moved to Nancy's bed, seeing her for the first time only because she was unconscious and could not object.

"Miss Horton's much easier since she's been under oxygen," Miss Donovan said. "Dr. Cornish thinks there'll be no crisis. We'll just have to wait through the tapering off."

David had no feeling whatsoever, save one of emptiness. Her face was obscured by the mask, but he saw clearly how six days of fever had wasted her body. Yet the hand which lay on the sheet was still beautiful to him, because Nancy would always be loveliness itself. He looked around. Miss Donovan had gone, and so he bent over the bed to leave a kiss on the finger where her wedding ring should have been. Somehow he felt easier, now that he had seen her.

The days rushed out of eternity and vanished into it again, dancing before David's vision in the wild contortions of a "motion-picture film" which is being run off at an accelerated speed. He had no knowledge of dates — the eighth, the tenth; two days under oxygen, three days, four. Her temperature holding at 103, at 103.6, at 103.8. Yet outwardly he gave no sign of personal involvement.

Somewhere in the hospital, a reflection of the usual routine had to be continued. There were operations, babies were born, accident cases patched up. Only skeleton staffs were maintained for surgery and obstetrics. Story finally made the rounds that Miss Hanniman, alone, had delivered twins because within the hour before her birth, Dr. Horn, the obstetrician had collapsed with flu. Sometimes David saw Thorne getting into an elevator, or coming out of a ward. Dr. Bascomb spent as much time at the hospital as Cornish did. All distinctive services had disappeared.

Once at three in the morning, David came face to face with Thorne. Cornish had turned David out of the ward, had ordered him to his room for a two hours' rest. David passed Thorne with a hurried greeting, but the later called him back. There had been a great deal David had planned to say to Thorne when next they met, but David had quite forgotten. At the sight of Thorne's drawn, pale face, he could not even remember what it was which he feared Thorne would do. Personalities were dead. Even the immediate past held no meaning in the necessity of the present.

"Say, Anders, maybe you can give me a lift. I've got a laparotomy to do — urgent — and I can't get any help. I'm working with one nurse. If you've got a little time, I'd appreciate it . . ."

David drew a deep breath. The prospect of a short period of relaxation had lifted the tension to a point where he was acutely conscious of fatigue. He felt that he couldn't lift his hand to another task, except — maybe — to assist a laparotomy.

"Sure," he said. "Just give me time to fill myself with coffee."

"You'd better," Thorne urged. "The operating room is going to be at the boiling point." He turned away, turned back. "How is Nancy?"

The two men's gazes locked. David answered, "Slowly coming back. She's not out of danger, though."

"Glad to hear it, Anders. I'll be expecting you."

David detained him just a moment longer. "Thanks for keeping quiet, Dr. Thorne."

Thorne turned away as if the matter were no longer of importance. And it was because of Thorne's possible betrayal, David reflected, that Nancy had worried herself into illness. What Thorne might have done if epidemic had not swept the city, David couldn't say. Now that David was merely awaiting Nancy's word to make the announcement, Thorne merely waved her fear away.

Cornish heard that David had taken a hand in the operating room. When a man is ready to drop where he stands, but pulls himself together long enough to

SUPPER IN A SOUP BOWL

A WELCOME IDEA in these weeks of in between, not quite winter, yet far from spring, is a bowl of steaming soup made more interesting, nourishing, and appetizing with chunks of tender salmon.

Whether or not you observe the Lenten season, you're bound to go fishing more often than usual during the 40 day period of moderation. It's a wonderful way to serve more simple fare and to balance the budget, often bent to breaking point, after the strenuous holiday season.

By simply combining a can of soup and a can of salmon, both staples on every supply shelf, then adding a touch of an herb, a kiss of a spice, a nourishing supper-in-a-bowl is ready to serve in less than 5 minutes. You're saving precious time as well as money, yet you're serving a dish that everyone will enjoy. Try one of these flavorful combinations today.

SALMON CHOWDER
1 can condensed cream of celery soup

1 can (7½ oz.) salmon flaked
Liquid from salmon plus milk to measure 1½ cups
½ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ teaspoon dried dill weed

Combine ingredients and heat over simmering water or stir over direct heat. Serves 2.

CURRIED SALMON AND PEA

2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 teaspoon curry
1 can pea soup
1 can (7½ oz.) salmon, flaked
Liquid from salmon plus milk and cream to measure 1½ cups
1 teaspoon lemon juice

In saucepan heat butter and in it cook onion and curry until onion is soft. Stir in remaining ingredients. Heat over simmering water or stir over direct heat. Serves 2.

Natural Look Is That Cool Yet Uncluttered Look

Spring's a-coming and so is Easter, and everything — but everything — in coats and suits — seems to be new in fashion feeling! There's a certain unconventional, perhaps continental feel to these fashions, which Miss and Mrs. America has learned to know — and to love!

With important inspiration borrowed from the Italian, the French, the Oriental influences, in fact, the world — new lines and details come to the fore with a definite elegant approach!

First — there's never been such an exciting variety fascinating fabric. New blends, new color combinations and new treatments for old-standby fabrics create this fabric furor.

Coats . . . tunic length or full-length, the slim straight line is important, particularly with low, at-the-hip detailing or back belt — fitted coats look newest in slimmer versions with modified flared, and long torso, low fullness . . . semi-fitted coats with box styling and the classic chestfield all tell the long torso story . . . flared coats are new when the fullness starts from a high, black line with straight front — or flares smoothly into the A-line.

All new suit and coat fashions wear a cool, uncluttered look! The important grace notes appear in flat collars, low cut necklines, scarved or cardigan necklines — and in sleeves that roll-up, push-up or are simply cut shorter!

In silhouette, Suits — whether wool, worsted, silk, blended or beautifully knit — are neat, pared-down and youthful looking. Every line is controlled, and tailored to hold its shape.

Jackets vary in length from top of the hips to the three-quarter and seven-eighth walking lengths. No matter what length, they gently skim the body yet give vital definition to the bosom and waistline.

Sleeves on suits generally return to a narrower, and longer length, while set-in sleeves, and neat necklines help heighten the lean, relaxed look.

Braid, bindings and contrast "outlines" continue to win fashion plaudits as the "Chanel Look" appears and reappears in every major suit collection.

Suits often wear an easy princess cut with raised bustline and higher waistline. The back is usually rounded while the front looks concave. Under-bosom seams or flap pockets and buttons are placed just above the natural waistline to enhance this look.

Curved seams appears everywhere. Skirts are most often A-line or slightly flared. Collars, when not small and notched are often flatteringly scarved.

Suit skirts have trouser-type pockets, panel fronts and are newly-cased and gored.

Blazer type jackets over pleated do a job, that man cannot quite be rejected.

Cornish was forced to conclude that David's love for Nancy had everything to do with the change.

David appeared to be one of those rare men who could rise beyond personal bitterness and uncertainty to consider the need of the world. Most men hoarded their love for a woman until it became a center of self-thinking. David was sharing it, and thereby nourishing it into splendor. Doc, Cornish saw that through David's love for Nancy and the brief marriage, the young doctor's spirit had been charged with something that was beyond an intellectual comprehension of illness.

Chances to Lose 50 Lbs. Slim

LON GBEACH, Calif. (AP) — Mary Ferguson, the heavyweight housewife who wants to lose 50 pounds in two weeks, is getting slimmer, all right. But so are her chances of reaching her original goal.

She said Tuesday night that she had lost 14 pounds and was down to 230 the last time she weighed. Her two-week exile in a hotel room ends Sunday. "I'd like to lose about 28 pounds," she told "But weight loss is funny. Sometimes you lose good, but sometimes the body gets a little water in it and you don't lose so well."

Mrs. Ferguson denied earlier reports that she had fainted twice during her fast. "I had some tremendous stomach contractions," she said, "and there were times I was feeling really rotten. But I never fainted."

Citizens Take Over Kansas City Rule

By HUELL E. WARREN JR.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The nonpartisan Citizens Association, which wrecked the Tom Pendergast machine in 1940 and ruled the city 19 years, recaptured the municipal government Tuesday after four years in limbo.

Its candidate for mayor, Ius W. Davis, defeated Dutton Brookfield of the new Independent Voters Association.

Complete, unofficial returns from the city's 428 precincts gave Davis a lead of 2,365 votes—54,968 to 52,603. Only 2,600 absentee ballots remain to be counted. They will be tabulated Friday.

Citizens candidates also won 9 of the 12 city council seats and swept out all but one member of the coalition of Democratic factions which captured City Hall in 1959. The coalition, which fired and hired eight city managers in four years, couldn't solve the city's woeful need for more revenue.

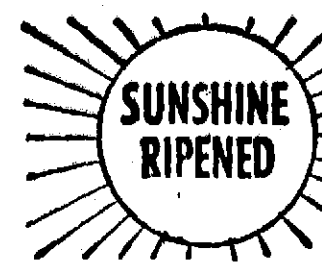

Davis, 47, is an attorney, a former council member and a Democrat. Brookfield, 45, is a businessman, former member of the police commission and a Republican. He formed the IVA after losing the citizen's nomination for mayor to Davis.

The Citizens Association functions only in municipal campaigns required by the city charter to be non-partisan, but there was a feeling their success tokens the ascendancy of a new Democratic leadership to replace the conglomeration of neighborhood and factional bosses who have been struggling for party control since the Pendergast demise.

The Citizens and the IVA put the Democratic coalition on the skids in the Feb. 26 primary by defeating H. Roe Bartle, silver-tongued 300-pound mayor. Two co-alliance councilmen went down with him, and a third didn't run.

Earl D. Thomas, an IVA candidate, and Bruce R. Watkins, a Citizens candidate, became the first Negroes elected to the council.
